An Innovative Approach To Collaborative Natural Resource Management In The Bremer River Catchment

Danielle Andlemac, Bremer River Fund and Bob Hampson, West Moreton Landcare Group
A summary of the Bremer River Catchment

- Worst performing catchment in SEQ
- Water supply
- Flooding!!
- Contains the RAAF Base Amberley, Australian Air Force’s largest base

Sourced from Bremer Catchment Association
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
The condition of the Bremer River
History of NRM in the Bremer River Catchment

- Bremer River Forum (2010)
- Bremer River Fund
- Bremer River Network
Lorikeet St Reserve
Lorikeet Street Reserve

BEFORE

AFTER Bundamba Creek

January 2015: Drain head before construction
January 2015: Badly eroded area before construction
September 2015: Plants well established
September 2015: plants well established
Upper Sandy Creek
Bremer River Network
Bremer River Network
Bremer River Network
Opportunities

Dedicated project officer

Bremer River Fund

Involvement with strategic planning

Connections with external organisations
Challenges

- Investment
- Scepticism and push-back
- Balancing opportunistic achievements with strategic implementation
- Capacity of member groups
- Succession planning
Thank you